CROWDS POURING IN.

Rain or Shine the People Will Turn Out to See the Exposition.

ANOTHER BIG DAY YESTERDAY.

The Flower Exhibits Still Perfect and Very Much Admired.

ALL POPULAR AIRS PLAYED TO-NIGHT

It seems neither wind nor rain nor the very worst of weather can stop the crowds that pour into the Exposition from morning until night. Damp and ugly as the skies and streets were yesterday was the second to the largest day in the way of excursionists, who returned home with more Pittsburg enterprise in their minds and mud on their boots than they ever had before.

For some reason unknown even to the person who adopts the idea, Thursday and Friday in Pittsburg are fashionable nights, and yesterday was no exception.

Saturday is everybody's day, and as a result a special musical programme of popular airs has been prepared.

All lovers of the "gentleman's game" will be delighted to hear that the celebrated Mr. and Mrs. Shaw have been secured by Mr. Myers, manager of the Brunswick Balke Company, and exhibitions of skill will be given by the noted pair every day next week, commencing with Monday afternoon. The lady is one of the very cleverest with the cue, and will demonstrate beyond a doubt that the gentleman's game is one of the prettiest in the world for

The magnificent floral designs that attracted such attention Thursday night were in almost as perfect shape last night, and de-lighted excursionists hovered about the fra-grant exhibits until the routine street salutation had to be enforced and they "moved on."

For a little amusement, Dr. Waite, of New York, in charge of the electrical exhibit in the gallery, will remove, free of charge, moles and facial bicmishes, also treat rheumatics, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons, The musical programme to be given this fternoon by the Great Western Band is as ollows:

PART 1-2 O'CLOCK. March, "Kosaken" Neiber löyi, "The Tyrojean and His Love" Zikofi Museite, "Love Kisses" Morley Sejection, "Maritana" WallaceGayler PART 2-4 O'CLOCK. 1. Medley overture, "Pete"....
2. Selection, "Tauhauser"....
3. Bolero song, "Esmerelda".... 5. Bolero song, "Esmerelda", Michales 4. Idyl, "The Forge in the Forest", Michales 5. March, "Elcin's Silver Age" (by request)

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

S. Hamilton, 91 and 93 Fifth Avenue.

Has any visitor to the Exposition failed to see and hear the Hamilton exhibit? Emphatic-ally, no! Just as rapidly as possible they betake themselves to this center of attraction on the main floor, to cujoy it all, from the cate posts and decorated border of platform, to the grand. beautiful musical instruments so tastefully draped in the new silk scarfs. Life is worth living with the keyboard of a Decker Bros, piano or an Estey organ under your fingers. There is no companionship to equal it; you sit down and express your own thoughts on these speaking instruments or interpret the thoughts of the great composers. Imagine, if you can, what such instruments would have been to Beenaves, Scarlatu, Mozart and the restill they reduced such effects upon those few-keyed sinners and harpsichords, what would they not ave done with these marvels of the day? Think of this in this Exposition time of 1889, and having viewed the superb exhibit, go right to 91 nd 33 Fifth avenue and examine not only Decker Bros.', but the Knabes, the Estevs, the Decay Bros., but the Khabos, the Esseys, the Fischers and the other makes not shown at Main Hall of the pianos carried by Mr. G. Handlton, also the Estey, Clough & Warren, Story & Clark and other makes of organsverinadly it is a magnificent collection.

Special attention is called to the splendid Clark & Warren, abused out the splendid Clough & Warren church organ, run by electric motor This is the only combinative organizate, having Scribner's well-known qualifying tubes attached. Its superiority over other instruments is established by the fact that it is used in more churches, public buildings and hails than any other organ manufactured. See the list of places where it is now the in and about Pitusburg. True it is only a partial list, but by conferring with Mr. Hamilton at the stores bit and is Fifth avenue, further information as 10 names and places will be given. The price is within reach of all—$750 with motor, or $750 without motor. This is the only combinative organ

CULINARY UTENSILS EXHIBIT.

Demmler Bros., 526 and 528 Smithfield St. Demmler Bros., 526 and 528 Smithfield St.

Visitors, try as they may, have not been able to find one article missing in this display, which would add to the comfort or convenience of the household. It seems a waste of time to state that it is near the center of main floor, for everybody knows the fact, and they know, too, what a charming exhibit it is. Among the items are gas faundry stores that use scarcely any of the volatile fuel, and Chicago reflector gas stores, the open space filled with asbestos, a copper fender reflecting the light; patent cake or castard pans, the plate movable so as to be slipped upon another plate; Troy polishing irons, with corrugated iron pressing surface for quick and effective work; "Nutrizio" coffee pols, the coffee held in a sieve while ing irons, with corrugated iron pressing surface for quick and effective work; "Nutrizio" coffee pots, the coffee held in a sieve while boiling water percolates through it; Silver's mensuring glass eggocaters (nicest things in making delicate desserts); Pasteur water filters, which perpetually convert liquid mud into purest, wholesome water; New Era Hydraulic Suction Clothes Washers, that do away with mending the week's wash; keelers, tuba, buckets in indurated fiber ware, that stand hot or cold water, are light, have neither hoops nor seams; bird cages, pretty Imperial stove hollow ware, in all forms of kettles; brass fenders and fire irons; the carver's friend, for withdrawing skewers from the roasted fowls and meats; disbpans, skillets, coffee mills, spice, flour and bread bexes, ladies, dippers, etc., and all of it so bright and fresh that it is a very hard place to leave, if one may judge from the lagging steps of those who feel they must see everything in the building.

PALACE OF MUSIC EXHIBIT.

Mellor & Hoene, 77 Fifth Avenue, The high character and reputation of this firm are fully maintained in the superb exhibit at westend of main hall. Nothing but the best firm are fully maintained in the superb exhibit at westend of man hall. Nothing but the best is permitted to leave their warerooms, therefore only the choicest instruments are inclosed in the handsome cases, whether carved or plain. The specialty to planos is the celebrated Hardman, which none others equal in tone, solidity, perfect action and moderate prices. The Hardman planos have forged right ahead, and from being simply very good, reliable instruments have become the favorites from their undoubted superiority. In the display are also notable specimens of the planos manufactured by Krakauer and by Kimball. The justly celebrated Palace, Chicago Cottage and A. B. Chase Organs: could anyone ask more? If they are exigent, they may turn to that remarkable invention, the Eolian Organ, with its five sets of reeds, from which may be evolved the most beautiful music; it may be played like any other organ, or by working the pedals any place desired will be rendered by having the proper barrels. The Eolian is certainly wonderful. After visiting the display visitors are invited to visit the warerooms and take in their permanent exposition.

GROGAN'S CUT GLASS DISPLAY. As Rich as Cresus

As Rich as Cresses

Is an old adage, but in the case of Grogan's exhibit it is modernized in a most emphatic manner. The patterns and forms of this cut glass are of the Cresses style, and their richness gives force to our quotation. The whole of the cut glass is iound in the large ebony case on the main aisle, floored with sections of French mirror plates, which reflect the prismatic hues of the cut glass and heighten the rich effects so susceptible in this material.

In this display are a variety of shapes and patterns exclusive to the Grogan stock. An oval punch bowl of large dimensions stands in the center. Getting away from the regular round bowls, this gondola shape is very impressive. It is the most praceful bowl that has yet appeared, being set upon a standard which raises it above the ordinary level, and with the exquisite cups and saucers surrounding it for serving punch will add grandeur to any table. In the case is a comblete outfit for table use, viz: water pitchers and caraffes, with tumblers and goblets, full sets for wines in the following sizes: cordial, sherry, claret and champagne glasses. With sherry is found the decanters, with claret jugs and small jugs for cordials. There are vases in tall and graceful shapes; nothing shows off so well a bunch or roses as these. There are also rose bowls of various sizes, finger bowls, jar and cover, etc. Don't fail to see Grogan's cut glass.

Charles Reizenstein's Exhibit.

Among the many beautiful exhibits to be seen is the handsome and artistic one of Mr. Charles Reizenstein. It is situated in the main assle, near the cutrance. This display is considered by many by far the finest in the building. There may be seen all, or rather a sample of all the goods from all the famed potteries of Europe. Mr. Reizensteln's son went to Europe to select his stock, and the character of the same is far ahead of those goods usually seen in the ordinary china store. To enumerate would simply require all of this paper's space. In cut goods there may be seen the very choicest gems from the best American factories. Every requisite for a dining table or drawing room is shown. Mr. Reizenstein assures all that every piece of goods is from his stock. He says that be does not believe in borrowed plumes, and that his exhibit only gives a faint idea of his elegant stock at his stores, 152, 154 and 156 Federal street, Allegheny. Telephone 3330.

Trymby, Hunt & Co., Philadelphin.

Two of the windows of this exhibit are in distinctly Louis XVI. style of hangings. One is in white silk velours, the handiwork decorations in French pink and Nile green, etched with metal, the lace, a Brussels point panel; the other, of same shade of velours, has the decorations in ardois and Nile green, with a dash of pink and metal etching, a pair of Brussels point curtains, instead of the panel. Notice the handsome arm chair in Nile green satin and plush of darker shade; the French piped top or panel of the dark plush. Note also the large Potter arm chair, a magnificent combination of brown, ivory and blush pink, the panels (the pink part of the chair) are in buillon surrounded by fine biscuit tufted panels. Then look at the solid, hand carved, mounted with a lovely watteau figure in the center panel, the two side panels in capucine plush, decorated with fieur de lis, the emblem flower of France, in silver applique. A ful line of these goods will be shown at the Seventh Avenne Hotel, room 228, by Mr. Dow, Manager. Trymby, Hunt & Co., Philadelphia.

The Hotel Hamilton.

By judicious expenditure of money this hotel has been completely metamorphosed from its former dingy condition into an attractive house, first-class in all its apartments. Its table is equal to any; its bar the best stocked in the city. It now holds a high place in public favor.

The Dabbs Portraits in Art Gallery

Speak for themselves. Mr. Dabbs never fails Speak for the wery best portraits, having a rare and happy faculty of catching the most subtle expression of the siter. His atelier, at the corner of Market and Liberty streets, is well worth visiting.

Exposition Restaurant.

Mr. Kroger, the genial proprietor, will look after the school children acceptably. Coffee and sandwiches to them are only 5 cents each. THE WOMAN With Three Roses, a Ger-by E. D. Beach, will appear in to-morrow's DISPATCH.
